

rough stuff

they tell us stuff they tell us pretty heavy stuff they tell us stuff that leaves us huff and puff course it is rough can't ever be rough enough course rough sells better when it comes to stuff but do yourself the favour and question what they say the truth can be your saviour or else insanity is the price you pay you never really get the whole point of it if you don't take your time for the small print it's not the bigger picture you're gonna get if you don't make up your own damn mind course it's their style and it's been working since a while they use their lies to construct a pile of hideous facts they say the fairy tale facts are true and not what's inside of you they corrupt your intuition so your heart is all confused their lies come to fruition as they train you to leave your brain unused but it is rough when they tell you all their stuff course their stuff is always just rough enough to have you feel course when you feel you're too busy to pillory their deal they use that same equation to cover up their lies with their grin it's an easy temptation to deny what feels true within
