

till the end

right before you walked through the door you kissed me your sweet goodbye held me close for a while

you said you'd love me to the very very end you said you'd love me till the end you'd love me till the end and I would be your friend you will be soon enough with me being apart from you makes my world a little untrue

course you said you'd love till the end
