

just relax

while the world is spinning around I am staying on the ground I don't know what people want all this spinning round and round why don't they just stay on the ground with ten I started to contemplate why we had all been made will I ever know what people want course I still have not figured out what we are all on about but there was someone to let me in to the secrets that lay within here is what he said to me my fathers wisdom is dear to me he said

just relax, honey, relax he looked me in the eye to say just relax emotionally challenging I still try to figure out what, where, when and why but I don't know what people want what it is that's hurting them who it is that's loving them you may ask why I still try to figure out what, where, when and why I wanna know what people want so I tell you I forever try to understand why
