

plan A

we sat down at the table and declared it as a date you poured us a glass of wine while the day turned into our night oh, you kissed me a little absent minded and your eyes were smiling when you asked me why we were sitting at the table and declaring it as a date I took a sip on my glass of wine

while the day turned into our night I kissed you a little absent minded while I told you what was on my mind straight from the heart I told you that it was time to eliminate Plan B it was time to illuminate Plan A and that we won't live another day and not know any other way

so while I write these very lines I am happy to adjust to what brought forth our declared date while back when day turned to our night your kiss no longer absent minded and your eyes are smiling course you know now why

I take my time to write these lines knowing full well we'll adjust
to what brought forth our declared date
while back when day turned to our night
your kiss no longer absent minded while our eyes are smiling with the knowledge off

straight from the heart I told you that it was time as we know it makes sense to light up our Plan A we had ourselves another date and sent Plan B head on away we sealed our night with a kiss and let our eyes shine while we knew when you want to live Plan A take your time for a little adjust till where you are is where you wanna be and never forget that you are free to kiss a little absent minded as long as you let your eyes shine